What is a LiTime battery?

LiTime, formerly Ampere Time, makes reliable, long-lasting lithium batteries. These batteries are lighter in weight than lead acid batteries and a lot safer, making them easy to transport and long-lasting. LiTime was founded 14 years ago by Luny Lu and Willa Zhang with a mission to bring light back into your life.

Is LiTime a good battery brand?

LiTime is a brand you can trust for a worry-free experience. They use automotive-grade battery cells and offer a 5-year warranty to ensure their LiFePO4 lithium batteries live up to your needs.

How long do litime batteries last?

With over 4,000 cycles at 100% depth of discharge, LiTime batteries last over 10 years. This is 4-5 times longer than a typical lead-acid battery. Faster Recharging LiTime batteries can recharge in just 1-2 hours with a compatible lithium battery charger. This rapid recharge ability means you spend less time tied to a power source.

Who owns LiTime batteries?

LiTime batteries are owned by Luny Lu and Willa Zhang. They founded the company, which was formerly called Ampere Time.
